Presentation

Program Overview

The Classical Studies Immersion Program – Athens is a five-day educational experience designed exclusively for students of the Liceo Classico Europeo, offering direct engagement with the historical, philosophical, and cultural foundations of Ancient Greece.

Athens, as the cradle of democracy, philosophy, theatre, and classical thought, provides an unparalleled learning environment that complements and deepens the classical curriculum taught in Italian secondary education. The program combines academic lectures, site-based learning, experiential workshops, and intercultural exchange, ensuring a rigorous yet accessible educational approach.

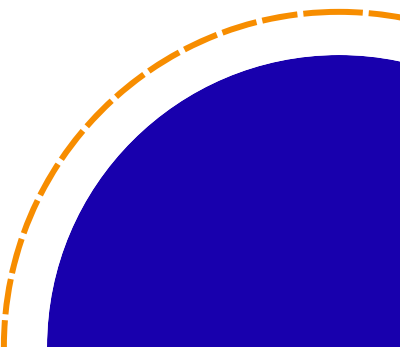

Educational Rationale & Learning Objectives

The program follows an interdisciplinary pedagogical framework, integrating:

- Ancient history
- Archaeology
- Philosophy
- Theatre studies
- Civic education and political thought

Core Learning Objectives

Participants will:

1. Develop a deeper understanding of Classical Athens as a political, cultural, and intellectual center of antiquity and its influence on European civilization.
2. Analyze archaeological and historical evidence through guided site visits and museum-based educational activities.
3. Strengthen comparative knowledge between Greek and Roman classical traditions in literature, philosophy, and public life.
4. Experience key concepts such as democracy, citizenship, and public discourse through experiential learning methodologies.
5. Enhance intercultural awareness through structured interaction with Greek students and educators.
6. Reflect critically on the relevance of classical heritage in shaping modern European identity.
